

Cultural heritage and technology project promoter (Ref: V3-cult)

Vicomtech-IK4 (www.vicomtech.org) is a technological centre which carries out research into information technology, multimedia technology, interaction and information management. It is based at Miramón Technology Park (Donostia-San Sebastián) and has five main areas of work and more than 80 people working there. It belongs to the international INI-GraphicsNet network (www.inigraphics.net) and to the IK4 partnership (www.ik4.es). Vicomech-IK4 promotes the use of the most innovative technology created using prototype research, experiences and products which support the cycle of innovation in different types of companies and institutions, including the audiovisual, tourism, animation, educational, medical and engineering sectors, amongst others.

Vicomtech-IK4 is looking for a cultural heritage and technology project promoter. The candidate chosen will be responsible for obtaining and helping manage and run projects using the Centre's technology in the cultural heritage and technology sector (digital experiences, multimedia digital libraries, digital art, etc.), and will form part of the "Tourism, Heritage and Creativity" Department, working in close collaboration with the personnel of that and the other departments in the Centre.

The candidate must meet the following requirements:

- Technical qualifications (e.g.. engineering, information technology) and special interest in research and new information and communication technology.
- Marked interest in the world of culture.
- Excellent communication skills with institutions and companies.
- Skills for defining and preparing project / offer proposals.
- Perfect Spanish and Basque and a high standard of English.
- Ability to work proactively and independently as well as having team work skills.

The following will be especially taken into account:

- Master's degree or doctorate
- Previous experience in similar positions

Interested candidates should send their CVs with the following reference Ref: V3-Cult a: info@vicomtech.org.